Temperatur und Niederschlag

Hi everybody, CIAO!

Zurich-Oerlikon, March 17th 2021

I have probably never worked so much in January and February: The weather was often sensational, many riders flocked to the road and, of course, my phone rang day and night! Many new customers have ridden their first meters, others continued their program from last year and there are still a few interested people who want to benefit from the direct entry, an undertaking that cannot be realized at my school unless you already have prior knowledge and experience. Last Saturday we completed the first Basic Skills. The first Cornering course of the year is already fully booked, and there will be an additional course in April, as some learner's permits expire at the end of the month. We already have 10 participants for the advanced training course in Interlaken. Since it takes place on Saturday, some of the participants stay at the Hotel Oberländerhof until Sunday in order to plan a comfortable trip home on Sunday. We just need the weather has to cooperate. At the moment I prefer not to look out of the ... (see next page!)

My schedule with remaining available slots can be found here. Reservations are accepted by SMS or e-mail. The course of next Saturday will not take place - temperature is expected to dip under zero overnight, which is the reason I had stopped advertising it. I will probably start a week later, hoping that maybe a few more repeaters will show up: The offer to repeat the course (or parts thereof) in March and April at half price is also extended to customers who took their mandatory basic training elsewhere last year. In light of the high demand - I have received many requests, especially from English-speaking clients, to do the exam preparation with me - if you need specific time slots, particularly early morning, late afternoon and Saturday hours - make sure to book them as soon as possible. First come, first served! People who call at short notice before an exam date, I leave hanging out of principle: what I teach you, must have time to become an engrained habit - he, who learns to turn his head for the blind spot one day before the exam, will have forgotten it at the latest on the second day after passing the exam!

We are still waiting for the Federal Council decision on how to proceed: At least we, the schools, can work, but I do think that we have to learn to live with the virus, and that the Federal Council has to hand over some of the responsibility to us: All hospitality establishments are still closed, although they all have developed the best protection concepts. And so many people simply meet privately, but WITHOUT PROTECTION CONCEPT. I am convinced that much of contamination occurs in private and in crowded tram and bus lines. In April we would like to resume our Thursday rides, and there it would be regrettable to not be able to stop off for the traditional dinner after the ride. At my school, masks are compulsory inside the building, and I count on the sense of responsibility of my customers that, in case of slightest doubt or suspicion of infection in their surroundings, they will reschedule their lesson for a safer time: After all, I also belong to the risk group in terms of age! This is it about the Corona situation.

I've created a special page on my website, accessible from the homepage, with the latest news:

In April, of course, it will change the name. You can find it under "Einzelunterricht", 1st tab on the left! There you can see very short term changes, for example, a place in a previously fully booked course suddenly becomes available. I usually update my website every day when I arrive to my office at the school: This can be at 7, 9 or 11 o'clock. Then my availability is up to date again. On "Home" tab you can see the date of the latest change.

In the meantime, I am also working on photos, under "Current News" («Aktuelle Neuigkeiten» - 3rd title down in the sidebar) you will always find reference to new pictures. These might be from old courses, too. Follow Pictures (Bilder) -> (arrow top right "Weiter") -> Links to recently published pictures, - there you will find pictures that have been newly uploaded.

In conclusion of today's brief review of the current situation, I will quote the final words of my mail of April 23rd 2020 "No Thursday rides" - we could not start with the Thursday evening rides until May 14, 2020 due to the first Corona lockdown –

In hope, that you manage to get on in this situation and stay undefeated! It only remains for me to wish you "Heb guet düre + blib gsund"! (Keep it up & stay healthy)
